Re: Proctor v. Cagno, et. al., Docket No: 10 CV 5981

Dear Judge Feuerstein:

This letter is written in response to this Court's order scheduling a telephone status conference for June 13, 2012 at 10:30 am. By this order Your Honor directed this office to make appropriate arrangements with plaintiff's facility. This firm represents the Southampton Town defendants.

Plaintiff has apparently been released from custody and is currently residing somewhere in Suffolk County. He left me a voice mail message with a telephone number which I have tried to call several times. I will write a letter to him at the address contained within the police department records advising him of the conference and requesting his contact information. I will also continue to try to reach him via the phone number which he left me. I will make diligent efforts to locate him and make him aware of the scheduled conference. There is nothing else that can be done, since to my knowledge, he has not informed the court of his change of address.

Respectfully submitted,

DEVITT SPELLMAN BARRETT, LLP
